DECORATION DAY

While we bring blossoms consecrate
Unto this ground where Bravery lies,
It is our God who decorates
With stars of flame, and with touch
Of living Light
He gives the Radiance of Life
To heroism.

—HELEN COOLIDGE.

TO OUR FIRST FALLEN

(For Gordon Bain)

If we accept this utmost sacrifice,
And fail to make return with reverent heed,
We are not worth the suffering nor the price;
Our words are void without the seal of deed.

Life now becomes more grave; the hastening hours
More dearly counted for a duty owed;
And those fair rights, so long considered ours,
Return to us strife-worthy and bestowed.

Young eyes now search our spirits from within;
Young smiles, so full of April and the sun,
Bring all their shining urgency to win
Our full devotion to the task begun.

Shall we desert you — traitors of the heart?
Shall our acceptance play the lesser part?

—DORA HAGEMEYER.

PROCLAMATION

Let us make this Memorial Day, the first since we have been at war, a solemn occasion.

Let us all take half an hour at noon on Saturday, May 30, to gather in the city plaza, where, under the new flagpole and by the memorial stone to be dedicated at that time, we will do honor to those who are serving in the armed forces, and do silent homage to those who will not return.

K. B. EVANS, Mayor.

Military Service For Gordon Bain In Carmel Plaza

By FRED BECHDOLT

On Memorial Day Carmel will pay tribute to its men in the armed forces of the United Nations and do honor to its War Dead.

The people of the village will gather in Devendorf Plaza at 11:30 in the morning to witness the formal dedication of a fifty-foot flagpole. Upon its steel shaft a metal tablet pays homage to all those who went from here to fight for liberty. Following the ceremony they will gather around a huge moss grown granite rock. The chiseled inscription on its face reads:

GORDON BAIN, R. A. F. 1942

A chaplain, firing squad and bugler from Fort Ord will conduct the brief, impressive military burial service for the young flier who lost his life in combat over the North Sea early this month.

Installation of the flag-pole and the rugged monument was sponsored by the Carmel Post, American Legion. The city council granted permission for use of the land.

Ellen Brown Show Set at Sketch Box

Carmel will be treated to a new kind of dog show when Ellen Brown opens her exhibition of dog paintings and portraits Saturday at the Sketch Box Gallery in the Seven Arts Building. Miss Brown has done portraits of famous dogs in California and in the east. Her work is in water color and is especially interesting because she captures the individual personalities of the dogs she paints. The exhibition will be for two weeks, from Saturday, May 30th, through June 12th.

Louise Welty Scores In Tatters Revival

In a spectacular revival of their initial success, the Troupers of the Gold Coast opened at the First Theatre, Monterey, last night in "Tatters, the Pet of Squatter's Gulch," with Louise Welty in the title role. The show is just about the best entertainment imaginable. The fourteen surprise olio acts which follow the short melodrama make the evening complete. MAYOR FOR COUNTY CLERK
Mayor Emmett G. McMenamin of Monterey yesterday announced his candidacy for the office of county clerk.

The election will take place Aug. 24 which is the mayor's birthday. McMenamin is completing his third term as mayor of Monterey.

Class of '42 to Graduate In Blue Caps and Gowns

In royal blue caps and gowns the forty members of the Carmel High School senior class will file down the aisles of Sunset Auditorium Thursday night at eight o'clock to take their places upon the stage, fragrant with roses, the class flower.

As the music of the Processional played by the high school orchestra ceases the Rev. Carel J. Hulsewe will give the invocation.

Then the a capella choir will sing two impressive numbers: "Agnus Dei" and "Beautiful Savior."

Otto W. Bardarson, principal, will present the senior class and introduce the student speakers who have chosen problems of general interest for discussion: Zaida Martin, "Recreation for Carmel Youth;" William Huggins, "Modern Youth and the Future;" Howard Levinson, "For What Are We Fighting," and Eleanor Johnston, "Farewell."

Two excerpts from Tchaikovsky's Sixth Symphony, played by the orchestra, follow the speeches. Then Major Shelburn Robison, president of the board of trustees, presents the diplomas.

Dr. James E. Crowther will close the ceremony with benediction, and the orchestra will play Verdi's Triumphant March from Aida for the recessional.

Harold Bartlett conducts the orchestra; Ruth McIntire, the a capella choir.

The graduates will receive parents and friends in the library immediately after the program.

The class roster:

Shirley Joan Bucklen, Peter Breinig, Carole C. Canoles, Carole Chester, Nancy Elizabeth Covert, Edith Gene Cox, Flora June Davis, Tolland Sharon Doud, Henrietta Erickson, Doris Winona Evans, Hugh Lester Gottfried, Adaline Edith Guth, Robert Boyd Haller, Jr., Eleanor Jane Hart, William Richard Huggins, Eleanor Elizabeth Johnston, Eade Jordan, Lyndsay Vanedene Jurgens, Patricia Boylan,

Old Mission Quad Will Ring Again For Soldier Drill

At Carmel Mission Tuesday afternoon, June 2, the new rectory will be dedicated by His Excellency the Most Rev. Philip G. Scher.

As the new rectory, part of the restoration of the quadrangle, is on the site of the original army barracks of the Mission guard, Father Michael D. O'Connell has arranged a special military program for the occasion. Through the courtesy of General Anderson and the cooperation of Lt. Col. Ryan of the Third Division at Fort Ord, a drum and bugle corps and two squadrons will take part in the program. After the dedication ceremony at 3:30 p.m., there will be military drill on the old parade grounds followed by benediction in which a military guard of honor will present arms during the blessing. All members of the Peninsula communities are invited to attend.

On Memorial Day at 9 o'clock a.m. in the old cemetery of the Mission a mass of commemoration will be said for the soldiers who lost their lives in the last and present war.

Bookbinding Class For Adult School Through Summer

To keep hands busy and hearts as light as may be during this important summer, the Carmel Adult School will continue several of its classes, with a new term, beginning June 2, according to the announcement made this week by J. W. Getsinger, adult school principal.

Bookbinding and blockprinting will open its summer activities on Tuesday evening, June 2, at 7:30 with a demonstration of paper marbling by the easy and especially satisfying water method. Even those who will not continue as students will want to come to this one session at Sunset School shop and learn how to make decorated papers for the covers of portfolios, screen, books, boxes and for gift wrappings. Recreation Plans Taking Form at Luncheon Meets

At luncheon meetings Friday and Monday at La Playa Hotel a group of citizens, on the invitation of Councilman Fred Godwin, gathered to discuss recreation plans for the summer.

As a result of the conversations, a tentative program was worked out and a committee appointed.

Mayor Evans, Fred Godwin, Otto Bardarson, Mrs. Horace Dormody, Mrs. Frank Timmins, Ernie Morehouse, Hap Hasty, Eleanor Johnston and Eade Jordan make up the committee.

It is planned to ask the city council, Parent-Teacher Association and business association, as well as individuals, for funds to finance the program.

Monday, according to Mr. Godwin, the drive for funds will start with a request for the school children to contribute an amount not to exceed twenty-five cents each.

Many of Town's Best Actors Gather For Shakespeare Class Anniversary

Note: The Pine Cone Poetry Editor, Helen Coolidge, has chosen a poem on Shakespeare to head the Poetry Column this issue in honor of the Shakespeare class' fifth birthday party.—W. C.

Last Monday marked the completion of five years' work in Shakespeare and the drama in general by the group conducted by Herbert Heron. The event was celebrated with a buffet supper, the awarding of a number of prizes, and a short program. A score of members were present in the big studio in the north wing of the Seven Arts Building.

When supper was over, the lights were turned out and a tiny birthday cake with five candles was brought in on a huge tray.

Heron reviewed the work of the half decade.

Following the anniversary supper, prizes were awarded to members of the drama group. To Dorothy Stephenson, for the best attendance at readings and rehearsals during the five years, went the first prize, with F. O. Robbins, Edith Frisbie, Barbara Stitt, and Barbara Ames in two-three-four-five order.

There were other prizes for best attendance in each one of the five years, and further awards for attendance at readings only, as distinguished from rehearsals. These were collared by Alec Gibson, Cecil Smith, Beth Morgan and some already mentioned as winners of prizes in other divisions.

A number of special prizes were also awarded. To J. W. Getsinger, the head of the Carmel Adult School, which sponsors the drama group: for his fine and gracious cooperation in the work. Mr. and (Continued on page 12)

Free Health Check For Pre-Schoolers

On Tuesday Dr. R. A. Kocher will give free health examinations to pre-school children expecting to enter kindergarten or first grade at Sunset School in September. This examination is given annually under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. The time is from nine to eleven a.m. at the Sunset School gymnasium, and a committee of P-T. A. members will be on hand to assist Dr. Kocher.

Appointments will be made in advance for those children whose names are known and whose parents can be reached by telephone. Mothers who have not been reached may telephone Mrs. N. A. Gorman, 297-M, if they would like appointments, or they may bring along their children without appointment.

The purpose of this examination is to discover defects in health, such as enlarged tonsils, undernourishment, caries, so that they may be remedied during the summer before the opening of school. Parents are strongly advised to take advantage of this opportunity.

VARIETIES

Carmel is a fuchsia fancier's paradise. Edith Bratin names some of the many varieites that flourish in this locality and their characteristics in her column, "How Does Your Garden Grow," page 10.

THE DOGS DO BARK

JERRY Greenan always has been a rugged individualist. The way he became a member of the Greenan family proves that. He used to belong to Edmund Lowe, the actor, and lived at Malibu Beach. The Greenans went there one summer and took the house next door to Mr. Lowe's. JERRY liked the Greenans. He liked them so much that he adopted them. And when summer was over and they were ready to leave, JERRY insisted on going with them. Mr. Lowe was very understanding about the whole thing, and agreed that if JERRY wanted to go with the Greenans, that there was nothing to do but let him go home with them.

That was a number of years ago and JERRY has been a very happy member of the Greenan household ever since. He has grown a bit grey and quite portly—but he still has a mind of his own.

When the Greenans acquired a new dog, an unattractive youngster named ANZAC, JERRY didn't like it. He thought ANZAC was too noisy and "fresh," so he decided to go and visit friends for a while. So off JERRY trotted and was gone for the entire week-end. When he returned home, Mrs. Greenan, to show JERRY that they still loved him best, took him over to the kennels for a shampoo, hair cut, and general beauty treatment, and JERRY came home looking so handsome that even ANZAC was impressed.

It wasn't long, however, before the youngster began to annoy JERRY, and he went to visit again. Now every time JERRY gets bored or annoyed with ANZAC, he just trots off quietly to see his friends where he is petted and pampered until he decides to go home and see how ANZAC is getting along.

In a burst of patriotic enthusiasm JUDY Vanderlip had one of those much advertised "Victory Bobs" and the barber cut it so short JUDY looks like she hasn't any hair at all, except for her eyebrows.

The day after JUDY had her bob was that very hot one and she nearly melted because she didn't have her nice, thick coat to keep her cool. The next day it was unexpectedly cold and poor JUDY almost froze because she didn't have her nice, thick coat to keep her warm. And the day after that when it rained, JUDY got drenched because she didn't have her nice, thick coat to keep her dry.

Now JUDY is convinced that a "Victory Bob" may be very smart, as the advertisements claim, but it just isn't practical in such a capricious climate.

Have you seen a little black cocker named GEORGE? He has a habit of getting lost.

About two weeks ago a young lady found GEORGE sitting forlornly on the corner of San Antonio and Twelfth. He told her that he was lost and so she took him home with her. She tried to find his family for him. She looked in the "Lost and Found" columns in the papers. She phoned the pound and the police, and asked if anyone knew for information about the little lost pup—but could find out nothing about him.

She decided to find a good home for GEORGE, because she was unable to keep him herself. Meanwhile she gave GEORGE to the police to take care of. Then she found a young man who offered GEORGE an excellent home and companionship. She called the police to get GEORGE back, and learned that he had just sneaked out of the office when they weren't looking.

So now GEORGE is lost again—unless his real owners have found him. If not, the young lady would like to get GEORGE back to give him to the young man who wants to give him a good home. So if anyone finds GEORGE, a little black cocker with a white chin, white throat markings, and white whiskers, please call the young lady at Carmel 312 before he gets lost again!

Myron Oliver Is New Association Officer

Myron Oliver is the new president de facto of the Carmel Art Association.

As officer next in line, he moved into the post last week when Paul Dougherty, president, and Paul Whitman, first vice president, resigned. Dougherty because of ill health and Whitman, for the reason that camouflage duties to the Army will keep him in San Francisco for the duration. All that remains to make the new set-up official is for the directors to meet, accept the changes and select a new treasurer to take Oliver's place.

Double Dose for Comedy Lovers at Carmel Theatre

Carmel Theatre's week-end double bill, starting tonight, includes "Playmates," a comedy featuring Kay Kyser and John Barrymore, and "Miss Polly," another rib-tickler, starring Zazu Pitts, with the support of Slim Summerville, Kathleen Howard, Brenda Forbes and Dick Clayton. The usual Saturday matinee will play tomorrow at two o'clock.

Sunday's three day feature will be Carole Lombard's last film before her death, "To Be or Not to Be," with Jack Benny, Lionel Atwill, Robert Stack and Felix Bressart. Directed by Ernst Lubitsch, this Alexander Korda presentation is an exciting romantic comedy keyed to a tempo of suspenseful interest throughout. It is Benny's first "straight" film role, without slapstick or zaniness, and his success is the realization of a long held ambition. The late Miss Lombard's performance is impeccable, a fitting climax to a long career in wholesome good-natured comedy. The feature will be shown four times Sunday in a continuous program starting at two o'clock.

Wednesday and Thursday's double bill program will include "Lady for a Night," starring Joan Blondell, and "Obliging Young Lady," enacted by a distinguished cast of funsters headed by the nine-year-old darling of the New York stage, Joan Carroll.

"Lady for a Night" places under the lens southern aristocracy as of Memphis in 1890 and finds it wanting. Joan Blondell is the girl from the wrong side of the tracks who marries into a destitute family of blue blood. Other important names in the cast are those of Philip Merivale, Blanche Yurka, John Wayne and Edith Barrett. The film has charm, warmth and strong emotional appeal, giving Miss Blondell an opportunity long denied her by the film studios.

Delight Dancers Charm Audience In Annual Show

By WILLETTE ALLEN

I was pleasantly impressed by the enthusiasm and spirit of June Delight's pupils in their dance recital at Sunset Auditorium last Sunday afternoon.

The costuming was effective and charming. Tiny Marilyn Henderson and Jean Glover were enchanting in their red and white pinafores and later in Dutch costumes. Marion Perkins and Bobby Brown did an excellent eccentric dance. Notable for their team work were Patsy Canoles and Frankie De Amaral, especially when dancing Fado Blanquita.

Carol Lynn displayed professional smoothness in dancing "Gitana." Dianne Lewis was like a charming doll in green satin doing the Polka. The audience was captivated by Wanda Warren's winning personality when she appeared in her soft shoe dance. Good sense of rhythm was evinced by Betty Jean De Amaral, tiny and delightful, in her pink dress. Carol Classic showed exquisite use of her hands in her work. Carol Graham, a charming little blonde, was a hit in hat and parasol in the April Showers number. Bobby Cook was warmly received by the audience in lively tap numbers. Sherlie Sousa was vivid as always in her Spanish dance. Billy Pat Torres was attractive in her Blue Danube number. Mary Jeanne Metcalf adroitly managed her cape in a dance she arranged herself. Ladisla Narvaez, in her butterfly dance, appeared in a striking costume of yellow and black. Also effectively costumed and pleasing were the Koepf sisters, Laura Lee and Flora Lee in a Slavic number. Jean Turner beat out a complicated rhythm in her tambourine dance. Gwendolyn Reed acquitted herself well both in her duet with Carol Classic, Chopin Prelude, and in many group numbers in which she appeared. June Delight II danced charmingly in several group numbers. Ann Gambee, a newcomer, participated nicely in the Gavotte.

June Delight very graciously appeared for a brief moment looking lovely in pale blue chiffon.

The closing number, "In Step With the U. S. A.," showed excellent training and brought the program to a patriotic and well arranged climax.

The recital as a whole was entertaining, buoyant and well staged. The success of any program is judged by the audience and this audience was most responsive.

Mrs. John Cocke spent several days in San Francisco recently.

Fine Toothed Combs, No Vacations For Women Voters League Members

Warning that citizens will be voting this year for the congressmen who will help make the peace, Mrs. Stanley Morrison of Palo Alto urged local Leagues of Women Voters not to take a summer vacation.

As the League's foreign relations chairman for northern California, Mrs. Morrison reported on the state convention in Los Angeles which has just closed. She spoke Tuesday before sixty women from the Monterey Peninsula League assembled at the home of Helen Clark Cranston.

"We won the last war but lost the peace," said Mrs. Morrison. "If this happens again, it will be a great, great tragedy. If we elect men who have been isolationists, they will be likely to repeat the mistakes of the last peace."

Mrs. Morrison suggested that local Women Voters scrutinize all candidates for all offices this year with particular attention, and that League members make certain that their voting registration is up to date. She said that Senator Hiram Johnson has voted uniformly against League policy and that Senator Sheridan Downey had been extremely inconsistent while Representative Jack Z. Anderson had been more remiss than Downey. Carmel's newly formed congressional district will give local Women Voters unusual responsibility since they must assist in choosing a candidate without a previous congressional record on which to judge him.

The speaker pointed out that even in the early thirties when isolationism was at its height in this country, the League stood solidly for international cooperation as it always had. She reminded members that the National League of Women Voters had supported the World Court, the League of Nations, the reciprocal trade agreements and the International Labor Organization, an outgrowth of the League of Nations.

Mrs. Morrison then read three convention resolutions which will direct the policy for local League members during the coming year:

"Adoption of current policies, political and economic, which will facilitate post war organization for peace.

"Participation by the United States in the making and execution of plans for world wide reconstruction and post war organization for peace which will eventually include all peoples, regardless of race, religion or political persuasion.

"Opposition to racial discrimination in immigration laws."

Also reporting on the convention, Miss Lydia Weld of Carmel said that since so many men would be away this year, it was especially important for women to vote intelligently. Mrs. Carl Voss of Salinas, Mrs. Mildred Hargis, convention secretary, and Mrs. Lee Pressley gave other sidelights of the convention, while Misses Catherine and Jessie Colvin, who attended the recent national convention in Chicago, gave a brief review of that.

Mrs. John P. Sandholdt, president, turned announcement of the program over to Miss Clara Kellogg, who introduced the speakers.

Tea followed in Mrs. Cranston's flowery patio which looks down on the ocean from the top of Carmel Woods hill.

Doctor Called by Army Is Worried About Fine Plants

Dr. R. A. Kocher, Major Kocher now, is more worried over the fate of his azaleas and rhododendrons than the practice he is leaving on June 6 when he takes over the post assigned to him this week at Letterman hospital.

"There are plenty of good doctors to take care of my patients here," Major Kocher said early this week, "but if I find that I am to be permanently stationed at Letterman and I have to move my family to the city and rent my home, what will happen to my garden?"

His concern is justified. At his home in the Highlands he has developed over a period of years a fine collection of plants.

Dr. Kocher received notice of his commission and assignment last week-end. His work at Letterman will be in the field of his specialties, nutrition and internal medicine.

PHARMACIST-FARMER

Martin Johnson of Gilroy is augmenting the staff at Fortier's Drug Store during the summer months. One-time owner of four drug stores in the county, he now farms 150 acres near Gilroy raising dairy cattle and tomatoes.

He keeps his skill as a pharmacist by doing a summer job putting up prescriptions.

Last year he worked for Peter Burke.

HS Sophomores in Rollicking Show Score Big Success

The high school sophomores were surprised at the number of adults that turned out for their variety show in Sunset cafeteria Friday night. From now on, they will have cause to be surprised if a crowd does not turn out for their shows. For the performance they put on established a reputation for them as actors who can play comedy that gets hold of an audience and pulls out of it good, hard laughter.

"The Villain Still Pursued Her," the first offering, was mellow, burlesqued for all it was worth, and full of gags that belong in the goofy class. John Graham was a convincing mortgage-burdened father; Mary Jean Mathews, the appealing and tragic heroine; Betty Lou Fonteneau, the maid who came in crying out loud; Helen Waltz, the mother; Sandy Hook, the towering villain in cloak and burnt cork mustache; Baird Bardarson, the hero; Noreen Kelsey, in weird get-up, represented the Corn Belt literati; and Emil Passalague, the detective.

The farce was directed by Miss Annie Edlen and announced by Louis Levinson; and from Levinson down through the cast, everyone seemed to be completely at ease and enjoying himself along with the audience.

Following the "drama" was a nonsensical dance "Scrubwomen Follies," by Sheldine Waters, Kraig Short and Vivian Ohm, directed by Miss Leila Gulmurt.

Two Sticks in the Mud, Bud Yerkes and Sam Metcalf, putting on an old-time black-face act, got their laughs by staring out at the audience with glassy eyes, and resurrecting the gags that had died with vaudeville.

They were assisted by Bill Goss as a heckler in the audience, and Russell Bohlke who, when they pulled the why-so-pale-kicked-the-bucket oldie, rose up in the front row and shot them dead.

The 44 Players reached their peak performance in their last offering, the Pyramus and Thisbe scene played by an all-boy cast, with Arnold Pilling as Prologue; Jim Handey as Pyramus; Roy Parsons, a Thisbe a full foot taller than any other member of the cast, possessed of a falsetto voice and a trick of loping daintily about the stage when emotionally upset; Norman Bullock's base face rising above a sandwich board representing Wall; Harold Jones, the Lion with convincing lion-head masque and roar; and John Wiegold as the Moon, carrying a coal-oil lantern to advertise the fact.

The scene could have degenerated into just high-school-boys-horsing-Shakespeare. As such it would have been funny and that's all. But something more was added, a sense of what lines to burlesque and what lines to play straight for their charm and comic value. Wall, the Lion, and the Moon played it straight and were excellent. Pyramus and Thisbe burlesqued their parts and were excellent. And the audience laughed and enjoyed it, and went away hoping for more of the same next year, and the next.

Following the show, the sophomores shoved aside the benches and had a dance complete with a soft-drink concession and red, white and blue streamer decorations, the latter nicely handled by Jack Fremont.

Neighborly Spirit On Dolores Street For Poppy Exhibit

Her Dolores street neighbors rallied around last Saturday to help Mrs. Fred McIndoe make her annual poppy window one of the most attractive she has had yet.

An active Legion Auxiliary member, Mrs. McIndoe arranges a display in the corner of the Carmel Grocery show window each year to advertise Poppy Day.

This year an attractive cardboard girl in a natty blue uniform with a Legion Auxiliary pin in the lapel smiled down on a vase of show-size opium poppies, a little metal tank that came from Paris and is a souvenir of World War I, and a wooden camouflaged transport.

Arthur Withey of the Carmel Cleaners gave Mrs. McIndoe the poppies, and Billy Burke of the Carmel Hardware lent the ship from part of his own window display. It is a model of the Leviathan built by Charlie Van Riper.

Mary Drake's Sister On Diplomatic Ship Sailing for Lisbon

Mrs. Carlos Drake has received word that her sister, Beulah Parker, who recently completed a course in medicine at Columbia University, received the appointment of assistant medical officer on the diplomatic ship to Lisbon returning the axis diplomats to Europe.

Miss Parker wrote her sister that she felt secure against the possibilities of torpedoing owing to the nationality of the passengers. As added precautions the word "Diplomatic" was displayed in lights in three languages; German, Italian and English.

CD News Briefs

By ELEANOR ELLIS

Scott James Monroe of Carmel Valley reported to the Civilian Defense office his official notification that his son, Robert Hayes Monroe, is missing. He was in Corregidor and the probabilities are that he is now a prisoner.

Robert Monroe has fourteen years of service in the Navy, is a chief machinists mate. His father was a master engineer in World War I and has the Verdun medal, presented by Marshall Petain.

The hard-working Women's Auxiliary of Carmel's Civilian Defense organization wore out tires and shoe leather this week in the campaign to get citizens to invest in Defense Bonds and Stamps. Canvassers asked for signed pledges indicating how much each person is willing to invest in bonds and stamps.

Campaign closes tomorrow and final report will not be available for a time. Door-to-door work is the hardest in the world. All credit belongs to the women who have refused to let considerations of personal comfort and convenience hold up the work.

Tatters Revival

Troupers' smash hits will be given next week.

On next Wednesday evening, June 3, the Troupers of the Gold Coast give a special performance of "Tatters" in the First Theatre, as the annual anniversary party, celebrating their own fifth birthday and Monterey's 172nd. A capacity audience of observers of Monterey's birthday and former troupers is expected.

"Home, James, and Don't Spare the Horses," "Gathering Shells by the Seashore," "Honey Boy," "Beautiful Moonlight" and a specialty dance by Margaret Mather are among the surprises of the new Really NEED a New Car?

Liberalized rules may let you get one

If your work is connected directly or indirectly with the prosecution of the war, you may be eligible to buy a new car—right now.

Under newly liberalized rationing rules it is easier than most people think to replace cars now in use with brand-new, long-lived, gas-thrifty 1942 Buicks.

Maybe you can wash out worries about tire-life by starting afresh with a complete new set—tires that will last longer, if they're on a Buick, because new Broadrim wheels both ease the ride and lengthen tire-life.

Remember, the 1942 models your Buick dealer now has ready for immediate delivery were built to serve you through the duration and beyond.

They are wartime tough, durable beauties built to last, built to go a long, long way with a minimum of upkeep.

So if you're eligible, you may be money ahead getting a new Buick now rather than trying to make an old car "do."

Why not drop in, talk it over and see if the new liberalized rules do not entitle you to a new automobile now?

Who is Eligible to Buy a New Car?

There are seven major classifications for persons eligible to buy new cars under basic rationing rules.

These include persons engaged in the production of war materials or in the prosecution of the war, directly or indirectly, physicians, nurses, clergymen, veterinarians; car-owners engaged in public service, such as fire departments, public health, highway maintenance etc.; owners of taxicabs and other means of transportation; farmers; newspaper wholesalers; and traveling salesmen in certain fields.

Your Buick dealer will be very glad to help you determine whether you come under the rules of eligibility. He also will be glad to help you fill the proper applications.

Don't guess about your eligibility—see your Buick dealer now and make sure.

If you're eligible for a new car—
Better Buy Buick!

SUGAR TROUBLE

I have heard it on the street. Several people have come into The Pine Cone office to complain about it. They say: "We are supposed to save tires, yet they expect us to drive over to Monterey to the tire rationing board to get our canning sugar. Does that make sense?"

On the surface it doesn't make sense. Why wear out tires to get sugar at a tire rationing board in another town? Why not have a sugar rationing board of our own, here?

I talked with Councilman P. A. McCreery as a representative of our city government; and Board Member Mrs. Perry Newberry as a representative of the rationing office.

This is a summary of the situation as I got it from them:

Originally each of the four cities of the Peninsula had its own tire rationing board. It was found that expenses could be reduced by combining the boards into one body so that it could function in one centrally located office.

Monterey furnished the office space at Colton Hall and the utilities. In the last two weeks the other cities have agreed to pay $10 a month each to defray other office expenses.

With the increased work incident to sugar rationing, the federal government has allowed the salary of a clerical worker.

According to the present set up, this clerical worker keeps the office open throughout the week, attends to the voluminous amount of recording and filing to be done. On Wednesday a volunteer sugar rationing board meets to grant requests for canning sugar, issues sugar books to those who missed out in the sugar sign up, and rules on various sugar rationing problems.

On Friday morning the tire rationing board, another group of unpaid workers, meets to handle tire rationing requests.

The cost to Carmel is just $10 a month.

If Carmel had its own board, the city would have to pay for office space. (If you think there's room for anything else in the city hall, talk to City Clerk Saidee Van Brower.) The city would also have to pay the salary of a clerical worker, because of the additional work of handling the sugar rationing details. Carmel would also have to pay for utilities, and the numerous miscellaneous items required in running an office.

What the sugar applicant would save in tires by not having to make one trip a year to Monterey for his sugar ration, he would have to pay out in taxes to maintain the board over here. And all of us would have to pay the taxes, whereas all of us do not want canning sugar.

HOUDINI ROAD

For years the San Francisco dailies have been sending out "scout cars" onto the neighboring highways, and writing up the trips in their Sunday automobile sections on the assumption that nobody would venture into the wilds of Livermore or Mission San Jose without a Sunday Automobile Section map to guide them.

Now The Pine Cone is as anxious to serve its readers and make them happy as the big city dailies. But we are not in a position to send out scout cars. Moreover, with tire rationing upon us, we feel that scout cars are becoming futile. What we sent out last Sunday was more to the point—scout bicycles.

And we are prepared to announce that the Carmel Valley road is a magic road for bicycling. It's down hill all the way out and down hill all the way back. If you prefer not to believe in magic, there is a logical explanation of this phenomenon, but I'm not going to give it here. You'll have to stay with me to find out.

The Pine Cone Scout Bicycles, manned by Travel Editor Wilma Cook and Assistant Travel Editor Elizabeth Paine started Sunday afternoon at the corner of Ocean and San Carlos on Pine Cone Cycle Tour No. 1. The travel editors were

POETRY

SHAKESPEARE

(April 23, 1564 - April 23, 1616)

*I sense a comrade over the flagon . . .
Lute-tongued . . . and eloquent in song,
A graceful man with comely hands.
His eyes, old as the wisdom of the world,
Hold tolerant laughter.*

—LIRREL STARLING.

PIGMENT OF FLAME

*The field cares nothing for the sun!
Indifferent, the harrowed land;
But the desert sky is answered
By a lake of sand
Where the rigid ripples glisten
With a vastness as the sea,
And the mighty sculpture listens
To immensity.
Here, the bleeding sunset's passion
Strikes each westward-facing stone.
Scarlet—scarlet, earth and sky!
Red, the scattered bone!*

—MARGERY ALLYN BISHOP.

NIGHT RIDE

*I travel far while crickets screech,
A pine and a madrone.
In pulsing monotone,
A chorus to a redwood tree,*

*At rest where the woodfolk have lain,
I scale a dizzy round;
Alone, I take off in my plane,
And never leave the ground.*

*I cap my hands on stars and cup
My ears to spill no whit
Of night, and when the moon comes up
I share the whole of it.*

*It seems too heavy for the sky
And, tilted, it may fall,
So low and close it leans that I
See nothing else at all.*

—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

FOG AT SEA

*From fog-wreaths, grey, pale seagulls sway
To touch green seas with trailing feet.
Above the hiss of falling spray
Their plaintive overtones repeat.
Sometimes I cannot see them fly,
I only hear across the sea
An almost human-sounding cry,
A calling voice, . . . "Remember me."*

*And now and then, a lifting wing
Beyond the margin of a wave,
A ghostlike, evanescent thing,
Shows white above some sailor's grave.*

—KATE RENNIE ARCHER.

REVIEWS

back again at six o'clock, each of them all in one piece, and this is their report:

You don't have to turn a pedal the entire length of San Carlos but can just sit and watch the scenery roll by. And if you haven't ridden a bicycle in twenty years, it is advisable to apply the brake occasionally at street crossings because car drivers still think they have some rights on the road, also when you dip down the Mission hill which is steep.

Going by the pistol range, you pedal a little. Then you cross the main highway with extreme caution, and arriving on the Carmel Valley road, you start up the grade beyond the dairy. When I said down hill all the way out and all the way back, perhaps I should have said, "with the exception of one or two grades," but these grades do not in any way lessen the startling effect of long stretches of down hill going out and THE SAME long stretches down hill going back.

You're half way up the dairy grade, and up to this point you've been asking yourself why you have neglected bicycling for twenty years—it's fun! It's exhilarating! You'll do it often!

Then suddenly your knees turn to fire. You get off your bicycle, stand there quivering and announce, "I'm going to go back now, if I can GET back."

All right, you can go back, but first lie down in the wild oats at the side of the road. You can see the oats waving overhead, also the eight redheaded linnets on the telephone wire, also off to the northeast three buzzards circling over the oak and pine covered hills.

Finally you get up, look at your companion, and exclaim, "I feel fine. Let's keep going up the valley."

This is what is known in bicycling parlance as getting your second knees. From here on you'll bowl on with the wind and the sun on your back, and your eyes full of scenery, and you'll keep saying, "I've been up here hundreds of times in the car, but this is the first time I noticed that."

You weren't aware before that the ratweed lining the road with its lacy leaves and white flowers is over your head when you ride a bicycle, and that the pale lavender bush lupin smells like sweetpeas.

For the first time you can read the names on the gates and mailboxes: Stewart—Schulte—Stover.

You arrive at the Carmelo farm center not wanting to turn back. But you remind yourself that the wind has been at your back all the way, and that gentle slope down hill for so many stretches coming out will, in the natural course of events, be up-hill going back, and with the wind to buck—

You have to pedal harder, now, with the wind in your face. Then you come to one of those downward dropping stretches you bowled along so easily coming out, and you prepare to labor. But instead you find the going is easier, the road is sloping down instead of up, and you don't believe it until the experience is repeated several times. You think the road is haunted; that it picks itself up after you pass and lays itself down at a different angle.

Then you pull yourself together and consider the problem in a practical manner and discover that the stretches you thought were downward on the way out because of the easy pedalling, were actually slightly up-grade, and the easy pedalling was due to a spanking breeze on your back that pushed you along like wind in a sail. And since this is the trade wind and blows regularly up the valley every afternoon all summer, to all practical purposes the valley road is a magical road for bicycling because it is down hill all the way out (with the exception of a few grades hardly worth mentioning) and down hill all the way back (also with the exception of a few grades hardly worth mentioning).

Mrs. Walter Sutton Visits—

A friend of Eva Belle Adams since the seventh grade in Detroit, a friend whose wedding she attended in London during the Boer war, Mrs. Walter Sutton arrived in Carmel Monday to be Miss Adams' houseguest until today. This afternoon Mrs. Sutton will return to her home in Sierra Madre.

Mrs. Peggy Logan Feted—

A real surprise party, with the guests all assembled as the honoree entered unawares, was brought off Friday evening by Mrs. Roy Fratties for Mrs. Jackson Menefee Logan.

After eleven years in Carmel, Mrs. Logan will leave tomorrow to join Mr. Logan in San Francisco where they will now make their home. The guests arrived Friday bringing gifts. Their numbers included Mesdames D. C. Lockwood, Charles Askew, Elmer Douglas, Robert Lawson, Jean Aiken Toombs, Mabel Hart, George Whitcomb and Carl Rasmussen. They played bridge and enjoyed a midnight supper.

On Saturday Mrs. D. C. Lockwood entertained for Mrs. Logan at luncheon and bridge.

Short But Not Sweet—

After saying goodbye to Carmel for the duration, if not forever, on May 18, Mrs. F. E. Overhulse and Dawn arrived back in town from San Francisco on May 20.

They reached the city for three of the hottest days of the year, tried to find an apartment that didn't have defense workers in it, were unsuccessful even though a policeman climbed in and drove around with them trying to help, stayed with friends in Oakland, and decided to come back to Carmel. They contemplate making another trial this Monday. On the other hand Mr. Overhulse, whose work called him into the interior, has nothing but good to report of either the heat or Marysville.

All Saints' Picnic—

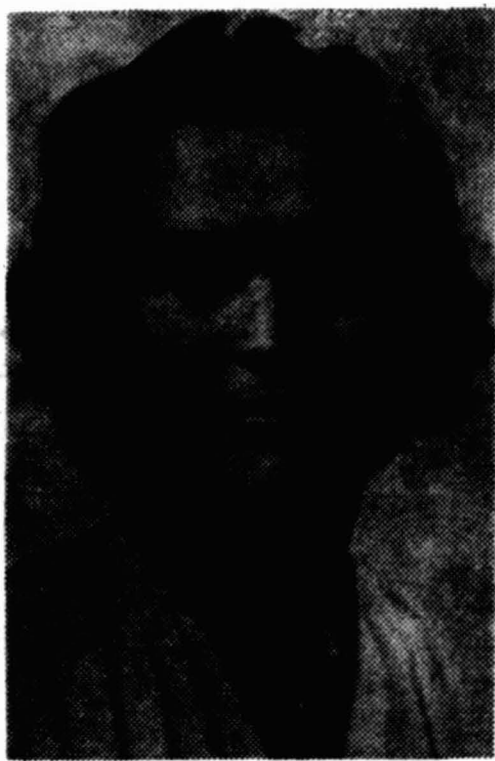

Members of All Saints' choir spent last Saturday at Big Sur on an all day picnic sponsored by the Choir Mothers Association, under the leadership of its chairman, Mrs. Niels Reimers.

Mr. K. G. Stevenson, Mr. R. E. Manhire, Miss A. G. Keith and the Rev. C. J. Hulsewe furnished the transportation. Members of the party were Douglas Calley, Richard Rohr, Bob Cooke, Bob Burgess, Bob Brown, Robert Jensen, Jim Jensen, Daniel Bell, Donald Baker, Bill Dufur, Stephen Brooks, Herbert Hooser, Sergeant Edwards, Charles Olmstead, Richard Templeman, Gail Johnson, Jane Haskell, Dorothy Baker, Kathleen Baker, Mary Jean Matthews, Doris Evans, Pat Shepard, Edward George and Eben Whittlesey.

Hulsewes Entertain—

The Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Hulsewe entertained the members of All Saints' vestry and their ladies at "Rutgershold" Wednesday evening.

Those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wheldon, Mr. and Mrs. J. McEldowney, Jr., Mr. Paul Prince with his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wheeler, Colonel and Mrs. W. E. Pulliam, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ewig and Mrs. C. H. Stearns, whose husband is away on a trip east at the present moment and attended without Mr. Stearns.

(Terry Ogden Photograph)

Margaret Brewster Engaged—

Mrs. Margaret Monk of Carmel and Los Angeles announces the engagement of her daughter, Margaret (Mitsi) Brewster, to Mr. John B. Parkhurst of Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Brewster is a graduate of the University of California and a member of Phi Beta, national music and drama fraternity. For the past two years, she has been regional director of American Youth Hostels with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Parkhurst, son of Edwin H. Parkhurst of Cleveland, is a graduate of Dartmouth and is with the 107th Cavalry stationed at Fort Ord. He was engaged in the advertising business before enlisting in the Army.

The wedding will take place this summer.

Poors Heard From—

Henry Varnum Poor and his daughter, Ann, who spent the winter in the Highlands, have written Marie Short about Civilian Defense in their new home, New City, N. Y.

Mrs. Robert Sherwood, wife of the playwright, is head of CD there and very efficient, the Poors write.

At present Mr. Poor is working on preliminary sketches of the mural he won a competition for in Chicago, while Ann is painting a mural for a building in Tennessee.

Entertainment by Carmel—

Three Carmel artists, Edith Anderson, Jessie Joan Brown and Peggy Rees, presented the program Sunday evening at the Monterey USO.

Mrs. Anderson and Miss Brown sang, in serious and popular styles respectively, and Miss Rees in gay, spangled Mexican costume danced the jarabe.

Catherine Van Dyke Weds—

The daughter of Mrs. Henry Seward Van Dyke of Pebble Beach, Miss Catherine Van Dyke will marry Lieutenant William Davlin Mooney in New York City on June 6.

Mrs. Van Dyke and Catherine left the Peninsula last week-end and are now in Norfolk where Lieutenant Mooney, until recently at Fort Ord, is at present stationed. The bride to be is the sister of Henry S. Van Dyke of Pasadena. Her grandfather, Walter Van Dyke, was a justice of the supreme court.

Lieutenant Mooney, the son of Mrs. Charles A. Mooney of Cleveland, is in the Army Air Corps.

Bardarson Relatives Here—

Recent houseguests of the Otto W. Bardarsons were Mr. Bardarson's niece, Mrs. Thomas Guy Hammond, and her mother, Mrs. Louise McKay, of Merced and Seattle.

The visitors spent a week here. Mrs. Hammond, bride of an air cadet, is the former Helen Bardarson. Her wedding took place in Merced a few weeks ago with Mr. Otto Bardarson attending the ceremony to give the bride in marriage.

Charlie's Aunt Players Meet—

Monday evening the newly organized Charlie's Aunt players met at the home of Marie Short.

Bartlett's Have Guests—

Houseguests of the Harold Bartlett for several days last week were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rageth of Turlock. Mr. Rageth teaches music in the Turlock schools.

Hull Goes to School—

Arthur Hull, now a corporal, breezed into town last week-end on his way from southern California to the east where the former principal of Sunset School will himself go back to school. He will study how to become a lieutenant.

Dick Boone "A-Weigh"—

Monday Dick Boone left Carmel for the Navy which he joined in San Francisco.

Dorothy Stephenson In S. F.—

Last week-end was spent by Dorothy Stephenson and her aunt, Miss Carrie Covington, in San Francisco.

Del Monte Dancing Party—

Elizabeth Cass, Willette Allen, Jane Fyelling and Helen Condit were guests Friday evening of a group of Army medical officers for a dancing party at Del Monte.

The women of Carmel Mission parish will give a silver tea on Thursday afternoon, June 11, at Crespi Hall to raise money with which to furnish the new parish house.

The public is invited to attend, and the building will be open on that day for general inspection.

Guests at Fish Ranch—

Visitors to Douglas School over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Dickson B. Potter of the Potter School outside of Phoenix, Arizona. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fish and attended the annual musicale with the Fishes on Sunday.

WITH YOUR
Electric Range

This is a message to the thousands of California women who now use the electric range. It is a good and faithful and durable servant in your home. Take care of it. Study again the instruction book that came with your electric range. Save electricity and save your range by cooking at proper temperature and exact cooking time. Unnecessary high-heat wastes kilowatts. Overcooking wastes electricity and destroys nutritive values in foods.

You, as an electric range user, have practiced nutritional cooking for years. You have, for example, cooked vegetables with little water over the glowing coils of electric heat. Your family and your dinner guests know that foods so cooked are tastier. And because foods so cooked are not overcooked and stirred they are whole and wholesome in nourishing vitamins and minerals.

The correct care and use of your electric range will be a contribution toward winning the war.

Anne Martin Is Back—

At the end of April Miss Anne Martin and her guest from Denver, Dr. Margaret Long, drove to Death Valley looking for sun but found only cold and wind.

They spent a week in Reno and last Thursday returned to Carmel, and on Monday Dr. Long left for Denver.

Miss Martin and Dr. Long drove through the Owens Valley and saw the internment camp for Japanese. The women report that it looks like an enormous barracks, and that the settlement is not yet entirely finished.

Patriotic Party—

Jennie and Jack Abernethy gave their first party of the season Sunday in their patio which was a blaze of red flowers, fuchsias and geraniums, that nicely matched the red and white striped garden umbrellas, and the shade was repeated on the Spanish balcony in full blooming Paul Scarlett roses.

It was a patriotic party for the Abernethys' friends from Red Cross, USO and Civilian Defense work, and the guests were greeted by a big American flag which hung from a pine tree over the drive. Thirty enjoyed a delicious luncheon and games of darts and ring throwing. The Abernethys were assisted in serving by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Diggins and Diane.

Male Chorus Performs—

Rachel Morton will be soprano soloist Sunday evening when the Peninsula Male Chorus sings for the Monterey USO.

Fletcher Family Procession—

Mrs. Ansel Fletcher of Monte Verde and Ninth has been enjoying a series of visits from her family.

Her daughter, Naomi, who manages a bookstore in Seattle, arrived a week ago yesterday for a three weeks' stay. She says it has been raining up there for eight months and that, while the gardens are lush and beautiful, she was growing impatient to see the sun.

Mrs. Fletcher's son, Ralph A. Fletcher of Oakland, will come down this week-end with his wife, daughter, Cora Mae, who is graduating from high school, and son, Richard A.

Still another son spent four days with Mrs. Fletcher in March, this one, Leonard J. Fletcher of Peoria, Ill.

Convocation in Redwood City—

Tuesday Mrs. Vera Peck Millis, the Rev. and Mrs. Caryl J. Hulsewe, Mrs. David Evans and Miss Flora Stewart drove up to Redwood City for the Convocation of San Jose which is held there annually at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Jr., were back in their Carmel Valley home Monday after five days in San Francisco.

Mixed Program for One Bach Evening

Last year the Bach Festival presented an evening of British music, which proved to be one of the most popular of the entire week. This year, in its eighth annual season, the Festival will present on Tuesday evening a program of music of miscellaneous composers, from Bach to Beethoven.

The program will open with a piano quartet, Beethoven. Playing the viola will be Jules Salkin, of the Detroit Symphony. A sonata for cello and piano by Valentin Piatti; songs by Gluck; piano soli by Rameau and Scarlatti; Madrigals and a Psalm for six voices, by Byrd; and a concerto for viola and orchestra, Handel, will make the varied and thrilling program.

Jules Salkin will be soloist in the Handel concerto.

E. A. Fraser Daughter Delights With Music Portraits at Douglas

On the occasion of the final monthly assembly at the Douglas School Sunday, two charming "musical portraits" were presented for the student body by Florence Fraser, pianist and lecturer of Philadelphia.

To hear her musical portraits is a unique experience, as it is a "genre" originated by Miss Fraser, and peculiarly adapted to her talents as a diseuse, as well as a pianist. She made a charming portrait herself, in a period gown of pale copper colored taffeta, and evoked for her listeners the Florentine Studio of Sandro Botticelli, who was engaged in painting "La Primavera." Leonardo Da Vinci, who added to his many other talents that of playing the lute, had been summoned to perform for the delight of Simonetta Vespucci, a famed beauty, who served as the model for the central figure of Botticelli's painting. As Miss Fraser played two authentic examples of 15th century lute music (transcribed by Respighi), one could truly see the painting develop.

For her second portrait, Miss Fraser chose the home of Claude Debussy on the Christmas morning when he presented his little daughter, "Chou Chou," with the Children's Corner. With beautiful nuance and delicacy, Miss Fraser executed "The Snow Is Dancing," "The Little Shepherd," and finally the much loved "Golliwog's Cake Walk."

Miss Fraser (in private life Mrs. William Mudge) is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fraser of Carmel. With her is her small daughter Verity. In Philadelphia, Miss Fraser is well known as a lecturer with the Metropolitan Opera Guild and at Bryn Mawr College.

Helen Gahagan Talks To Women Politicos

The June meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Women's Democratic Club, scheduled for Friday, June 5, has been postponed until later in the month, when Miss Helen Gahagan and Mr. George Outland, of Santa Barbara, will be in Carmel.

There was an interesting impromptu meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Henry Stuart, where Miss Gahagan and Mrs. Julia Porter, head of the Northern Division of the California Women's Democratic Clubs, spoke on the political situation in California and Washington, D. C.

Birthday Party—

Willette Allen gave a birthday dinner Saturday at the Jimmy Douds for Corporal Bob Fitch.

Guests present beside the Douds were Sergeant and Mrs. Bob Bodie and Mrs. Elizabeth Cass.

It's Nancy—Not Norman—

A baby girl arrived for Mr. and Mrs. John L. Kellogg at the Community Hospital last Friday, which means another granddaughter for the Lee O. Kelloggs and another grandniece for the Misses Clara and Ella Kellogg.

The parents were all ready to name the new child Norman but managed to adjust that to Nancy Lee. The baby has a sister, Janet, who is fourteen months old.

Lotte Lehmann Concert—

Rachel Morton and Ann Barrows went to San Francisco last week-end to hear Lotte Lehmann sing accompanied by Bruno Walter. They report that the Opera House was packed.

Music Society's Annual Meeting Will Be June 7—

The annual meeting of the Carmel Music Society, and the informal reception which follows it, will be held Sunday, June 7.

It will take place at the Art Gallery.

Maier Recital Off—

The two-piano recital of Guy and Lois Maier, which the Denny-Watrous management has been trying to arrange for Sunday matinee June 14, will not take place since the artists' eastern tour will not permit of the delay.

Big Poppy Sale—

Carmel has not forgotten the veterans of the last war, it became evident this week to the women of the American Legion Auxiliary.

A record number of red paper poppies was sold, far more than last year. Auxiliary members have not yet had time to compute exactly how many but will do so at a board meeting on Monday evening, and The Pine Cone will announce the result next week.

Sunset School News

The fifth grade is studying about electricity. We have made quite a few experiments. Yesterday we went up to the high school and visited the ninth grade. Boy, was it hot! You see we hiked up there in all the heat. We were all sweating, it was so hot, but it was worth it.

When we got there, we were shown to the room where Miss Sener's students performed their experiments. When they finished, Rowland Calder told them about our sending and receiving set which we had made and brought along.

We had a contest and Edward Seifert won it. It was a contest to see how many electrical things we could think of and write down in two minutes. Edward got ten things written down, so he got the prize, a little pocket flashlight. Then we visited the science laboratory, and went home.

—Jennifer Lloyd.

A Fourth Grade Play

We are giving a play called, "On the Way to Monterey." It is about a Spanish family and tells about an exciting trip they took from their rancho to Monterey. The characters are: Senor Fernando, Norman Wilson; Senora Fernando, Joan Daniels; Juanita, the daughter, Anita Machado; Pedro, the son, Tommy Machado; Father Ortega, Dionicio Narvaez; Indians, Cynthia Zarafonitis, Delora Sharp; Sailors, Pamela Baca, Dionicio Narvaez; Capt. Thunder, Janice Hatton. —Delora Sharp, Grade 4.

Last Wednesday in room five, Rolito, our little amigo from Mexico said "Adios" to the muchachos of the Spanish class, for on that day we had our last meeting. We were all very sad about it (even Rolito), but Mrs. Jordan said that we might be able to continue it next year if there is enough interest. We are all hoping, Rolito especially.

—Nadine Hooser, Grade 6.

48 in AWVS Signup For New Code Class

Forty-eight local women signed up with A. W. V. S. this week to learn communications codes directly from the Army.

Col. P. V. Kane of Fort Ord has arranged for Lt. Carpenter, Master Sgt. Robley, Sgt. Ambuster and Pfc. Bishop to teach the women Morse and International codes in three weeks. To accomplish this objective, the class, held at Monterey Union High School, is meeting four nights a week.

Those who successfully complete the course may enroll for switchboard operation, after which they will receive a grade B operator's rating, and will be ready to take positions vacated by men called to the Army.

In looking ahead to the meat shortage which is being predicted, Bob Erickson has this suggestion to make in regard to catching those little wild cottontails.

Lay a log down in the woods. Paint a black spot on the end, and chase the rabbits toward it. The rabbits will think the spot is a hole, run into it and be knocked unconscious.

Helen Dean Files—

Last week-end Helen Lightner Dean flew up to Sacramento for a wedding.

She attended the marriage of Jahe Henderson to Lieutenant Gene Armstrong of the Army Air Corps. A frequent Carmel visitor, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Henderson of Sacramento who have a summer home here on Carmelo.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Trent Sunday, 8 a.m. Service of the Holy Communion. At 9:30 a.m. Junior Church and School. At 11 a.m. the Service of Morning Prayer, which will be a baccalaureate service for this year's graduating class of Carmel High School with a message by the rector, Rev. C. J. Hulsewe. Offertory anthem "If Ye Love Me," Arthur Semper, with the full Vested Choir participating in the service.

On Thursday, June 4, at 2 p.m. meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary at the rectory on Randall way. Future plans to be discussed, the members to be the guests at tea of the Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Hulsewe.

CHURCH OF THE WAYFARER

"When Life Tumbles In" will be the sermon theme at the Church of the Wayfarer next Sunday morning, Dr. James E. Crowther, pastor. Tribute will be paid to the memory of Henry Francis Lyte, author of "Abide With Me," the 149th anniversary of whose birth occurs on Monday, June 1. That hymn was written when his life tumbled in. Ten weeks later he passed to his reward. It was not defeat, but victory. Life has tumbled in for most of us these days. Shall it be tribulation or triumph? Margaret Sherman Lea will play the following organ selections: "If With All Your Hearts," Mendelssohn; "Adagio," Mozart; "The Heavens Declare His Glory," Beethoven. Visitors are cordially invited to share the hour of worship in this lovely sanctuary.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"The idols have spoken vanity, and the diviners have seen a lie, and have told false dreams; they comfort in vain." These words from Zechariah comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, May 31, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven," (Rev. 12: 7, 8).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The great red dragon symbolizes a lie,—the belief that substance, life, and intelligence can be material. This dragon stands for the sum total of human error. . . . The Revelator lifts the veil from the embodiment of all evil, and beholds its awful character; but he also sees the nothingness of evil and the allness of God," (p. 563).

Red Cross News

REAL NEED

Too much cannot be said of the great need for women to take the nursing courses offered by the local Red Cross. There is a definite shortage of trained nurses in this area, and with the Army taking more and more the situation is rapidly becoming serious. The Home Nursing course trains women to follow doctors' orders and care for patients — members of their households — in their own homes. A certificate does not obligate her to serve in a hospital or any outside duty, but is a safeguard against the time when it will not be possible to get trained nurses for private duty.

A new Home Nursing class is to start on Monday, June 1st and will be held at the Girl Scout House on Mondays and Thursdays thereafter from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Enrollees may register at Red Cross headquarters any time up to June 1st, or at the Girl Scout House on that date at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Alice Byrnes will instruct.

nations of small prizes for the Bingo games for the boys at the hospital. Small things of little value are useful as a prize. Cigarettes, candy and gum are good, as well as pens, pencils, pocket combs, playing cards, small souvenirs of the Peninsula. Donated articles may be left at the Red Cross headquarters on Dolores street in Carmel, in the basket in the outer office.

Dr. R. A. Kocher has been called into the service, and is therefore resigning as instructor of nutrition. His classes will be taken over by Miss Henninger, dietician of the Community Hospital.

The Production Department of the Red Cross has received a shipment of wool to be made into garments for the Navy. Experienced knitters are needed to volunteer for this work, as garments for the armed forces are made only at the specific request of commanding officers, and must be accurate. This plan has been adopted to prevent waste of time, wool and labor.

Revised Bus Schedule for Carmel Valley Motor Corps

Monday through Friday: Leave Carmel 10:00 a.m., return to Carmel 2:30 p.m. No 4:30 bus on Friday and no Saturday bus as this latter was for the high school girls, but school will soon be out, and the girls can go up any time during the week.

There is a flame for the fire watcher and a ladder for the demolition crew, each CD branch has its own device. The emblems will not be sold to anyone not duly certified by CD authorities.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

By EDITH BRATTIN

Fuchsia collecting can become a fascinating hobby. There are so many varieties to choose from, it is bewildering at first. There are fuchsias for sun and for shade, for pot plants, as vines or as shrubs. This versatility plus the fact that we have the ideal climate conditions for best results is a record very few plants can equal anywhere.

With two or three hundred varieties in nurseries to choose from, and many more if you scout around, it is very unfortunate that some folks still consider that a fuchsia is a "fuchsia" and with disregard will plant a dwarf fuchsia suited to pot plant culture for a vinelike effect.

There are quite a few fuchsias which have definite low symmetrical growth. Among these are Dainty Lady, Alice Hoffman, Brentwood, Little Beauty, Lord Byron, Valient, G. Monk, Lilac Queen and Venus Victrix. Naturally there are many more, but these are among the most usual and easily available varieties that can be depended upon to make compact growth.

Among those for training up as vines or for tall growth are Mrs. Gladstone, Alfred Rambeau, Aviator, Torpilleur, Geroldstein, Leo Delibes and Beauty of Swanley.

For hanging baskets some of the best are Hallowe'en, Claret cup, Firefall, Cascade, Muriel, Treasure Island, Marinka and Mrs. Rundle.

The Species (unhybridized) fuchsias in most cases are best where they have sun at least a good part of the day, the hybrid varieties will do best in at least partial shade, although some of the stronger single types do grow quite well here in the sun, providing you give them some care when they are young. Some of the good species are Procumbens (a good ground cover or rock plant), Boliviana which makes a bold shrub, Macrostemma Alba, and Aborescens which hardly resemble a fuchsia, having pinnacles of flowers resembling lilacs (hence the name Aborescens Syringaeiflora, meaning lilac-like).

The culture of fuchsias is simple if you will remember that they are heavy feeders and need lots of water. The blooms are formed only on new growth, therefore they must be pruned heavily in fall or early spring to have a luxurious blooming season.

Scouts Hold Court For Three Members

A court of honor was held at 8 o'clock Friday night by Boy Scouts in the Scout house with Bill Laystrom, Tommy Heffling and Bob Bell, of Troop 39, who have completed all their second class tests, as guests of honor.

Parents and friends were welcomed by Scoutmaster Lloyd Miller.

Martin Katz, a member of the troop, showed colored movies which he took of the Scouts' Easter camping trip in Pine Valley.

It was the second program enjoyed by Troop 39 last week. Mon-

Mayor Asks for Greater Effort By Local People

Keith Evans, mayor of Carmel, advised citizens to learn to do for themselves, to expect to work harder and give up more of luxury and ease, to cooperate with each other and with volunteer and other official bodies in a Carmel Forum address at Sunset Auditorium on Friday evening, May 22. The mayor's talk was preceded by the showing of two films: "The Warning" and "Fighting the Fire Bomb." It was followed by a demonstration of incendiary bombs, made by the Carmel Fire Department.

As an instance of needed cooperation the mayor asked those blocks yet without an air raid warden to find their own. He said that Carmel's Civilian Defense organization is well organized, ready to take care of emergencies. But in many blocks there are few able-bodied men available. It takes much time and effort to seek them out, and the time and effort must be given by volunteer workers, whose only interest is to assist in protecting their town and their neighbors. In any block that does not have a warden, the residents are asked to get busy, find someone willing to serve, and present his name to Civilian Defense.

Another field of cooperation is in the gathering of salvage. The mayor pointed out that the city will lose the revenue of building permits, and various other forms of revenue due to war conditions, he stated that some, at least, of this can be offset by the collection and sale of salvage, which at the same time puts needed materials back into use. Anything not needed, that is made of metal or rubber, may be left on the lot next to the post office. The city will sell it, and the money will be used to help hold down the tax rate.

Answering questions, Evans said that tin cans are wanted, that coffee cans are wanted. He explained that the new air raid signal of one long wavering (up and down) blast became effective on May 23. He mentioned the dim-out, saying that the street lights would be shielded as quickly as the power company can get it done. Meanwhile all lights facing the ocean must be shaded.

Most people are not yet doing as much as they can or should. They should work harder, pull together more closely, and get along with less, according to the mayor.

The mayor's talk was followed by a demonstration of incendiary bombs. Fire Chief Vincent Torres showed the difference between the action of a stream of water and of a fire extinguisher on an oil fire. Captain Paul Mercurio demonstrated the effect of a stream and a spray of water on an incendiary bomb.

Malcolm Tarpey showed how to put out an incendiary with sand, while Vincent Torres, Jr., and Paul Funchess extinguished theirs with a spray from a pack pump, and Barny Bracisco put another bomb out using a booster line with a fog nozzle.

Bookbinding Class

On following Tuesdays for two hours each evening throughout the summer students will bind their own books and manuscripts or repair them—according to the most exacting standards of this honored craft. Methods are more ancient than true book forms; effects may be as new as tomorrow. This unusual opportunity to learn one of the most respected of traditional crafts comes through a practical working binder, R. L. Bruckman, a student of the Master Binders of San Francisco, Herbert and Peter Fahey.

Many of Town's

To Barbara Stitt: for consistently good acting in five major productions. To Dorothy Stephenson: for her prompting and stage-management in six productions. To Noel Sullivan: for the nobility of his portrayals in Macbeth and Hamlet. To W. B. Williams: for the best work with the least rehearsal, the doctor having stepped into the part of the First Grave Digger at the last moment. To Edith Frisbie: for her sensitive readings through five years. To Helena Heron: for beautiful sets and costumes. Awards were also made in absentia to Vincent Duffey, George Z. Wilson, Charles Bull, Morris Pomeroy and Ellen Habenicht. Numerous as were the prizes, the effect on the national debt was decided by experts to be infinitesimal.

Following the awards, Edith Frisbie gave one of her excellent Irish interpretations.

Then W. B. Williams, the First Grave Digger in the second Carmel production of Hamlet, and F. O. Robbins, the Second Grave Digger in the first Carmel production of Hamlet, read the famous clown scene with quiet humor and delightful expressiveness.

Military Service

(Continued from page 1) Mayor Keith Evans made a proclamation of the ceremonial. Sponsors, volunteer workers and many citizens felt it was fitting that homage be rendered the living who are serving and the boy who gave his life.

The American Legion committee, consisting of Ed Ewig, Ernest Morehouse and Fred McIndoe, called the mayor, Keith Evans, and Fred Bechdolt into conference on arrangements. The rock monument was found in place on the summit of a tall pinnacle fronting the sea on the Thomas Riley land south of the river mouth.

Under supervision of Frank Murphy, who furnished the heavy equipment for bare cost of operation, a crew of volunteer workers put in all day Saturday and half of last Sunday transplanting the great stone to its concrete emplacement in Devendorf Plaza. Others gathered smaller moss grown boulders from San Jose Canyon and a headland ten miles down the coast. Louis Lewis had charge of the men. These were:

Bill Machado, Benny Figueroa, Eddy Soberanes, George De Rose, Wesley Cato, Gene Rickets, Joe McElowney, Jr., Roddy Maddock, who did the stone carving and designed the two tablets, contributed his services during the moving and installation. Scotty Burgess furnished his wreck truck to hoist the rock into place. Colonel Roger S. Fitch granted the services of the soldiers from Fort Ord.

For preservation and proper care of flag-pole and monument, Carmel Post American Legion will name a permanent committee.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Sourisseau are the happy parents of a boy, born Wednesday at Peninsula Community Hospital.

Bangup Banquet Ends Season for Abalone Leaguers

After the last batter had been called out last Sunday the Abalone Leaguers and their guests gathered at the Pine Inn to relax and enjoy an evening of good fellowship and gentle ribbing. There were about 70 guests at the dinner but the reminiscing carried back to include hundreds of other Abalone Leaguers, some of this world and some gone.

Otto Bardarson as M. C. kept the evening's entertainment rolling at a fast pace and didn't have to enforce the closure rule—not even on Doc Stanford.

Tal Josselyn, Great Arbitrator, the man who named the league when it was in its infancy 21 years ago, recounted the history of the league to the enjoyment of all those present.

Col. Robert Fitch gave an interesting resume of the activities at Fort Ord village and issued a challenge to the Abalone Leaguers in behalf of the Fort Ord softball team—with Doc, Ernie and Del Monte umpiring how can Carmel lose. The colonel also proved himself to be a Walt Whitman in uniform by presenting one of his original poetic masterpieces which compared the Abalone of the diamond with the Abalone of the sea.

Messages were received from absent Abalones Art Hull, Winsor Josselyn and Dick Catlett. Tom and Mary Douglas sent their regrets because they could not attend the celebration.

Councilmen Rowntree and McCreery were present and urged the Abalone League to get behind the city summer recreation program.

The pilfered Herald trophy was presented to Giant Cedric Rowntree who attributed the great success of the Giants to Ernie Morehouse and his cigar.

Ather speakers were: Lt. A. Knight, Hap Hasty, Mike Balazs, Cedric Rowntree, Ernie Schweninger, A. Del Monte, Doc D. M. Stanford, Coach Mosolf, Ban Handley, Ivan Kelsey and Bob Roerr.

Carmel's U. C. Graduates—Carmel has four graduates, one Ph.D. and one M. A., in this year's class at the University of California.

Harold Francis Weaver received his doctorate in astronomy and Jerome Gilbert Chance became a master of arts, while bachelor degrees were awarded to Katherine Beaton, John Archer Logan, Philip Stearns MacDougal and David Farragut Behrent. Commencement took place on May 13.

Sunday Games Very Good and Very Bad For Final Fracas

The Abalone Leaguers wound up its season Sunday by putting on one typical Abalone League game and another game featured by smart pitching and stellar fielding performance.

In the typical Abalone game the amazing Shamrocks downed the jittery Pilots 25 to 2. All the Shamrocks had on their hitting togs and teed off on everything Captain Knight tossed at them—even his illegal pitch which he usually saves for a pinch. The consensus of opinion is that if the league had a few more weeks to run the Shamrocks would cop the flag. As an example of their devastating power at the plate—Lawman, 5 times at bat, 4 runs, and 5 hits; Todd, 5 for 5; Hasty, 5 for 5. 'Tis no wonder the Pilots shudder to think of the Shamrocks.

Although the Giants had the championship cinched when the Shamrocks beat the Pilots they went to work and demonstrated why they are champs by downing the Tigers in a well-played 5 to 3 game. Ernie Morehouse had his "stogie" ball doing tricks and the Tigers were completely baffled.

Abalone Tide for Sunday With Good Fishing Prospects

There is to be an "abalone tide" on Sunday, May 31, with prospects of exceptional fishing. Not only will the tide be the lowest so far this year, but abalones are plentiful, according to a report from the Fish and Game Commission. The low tides extend over the week-end with a minus 1.1 at 4:41 a.m. on Friday; minus 1.5 at 5:29 a.m. on Saturday; minus 1.6 at 6:19 a.m. on Sunday; and minus 1.5 at 7:10 a.m. on Monday.

The Fish and Game authorities urge fishermen to remember to take their measures into the water and measure each abalone as it is picked. Those undersized should be put back into the water immediately near the rocks so they can attach themselves again.
